DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

1. The information disclosure statement has been received and considered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claims 1-2 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. It is unclear how the chambers AR1,AR2 can be "atmospheric pressure chambers" since they are in communication with the fluid reservoir via ports 11a,11b (i.e. they seem to be under a liquid pressure).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claims 1,2 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Schunk in view of Kamiya et al and Drott et al.

Regarding claim 1, subject to the 112 above, Schunk discloses a tandem brake master cylinder, similar in structure to applicants, having a floating piston (not labeled, but to the left of spring 54) a separation valve 24,24, a pressure control valve unit 12 (as per applicant's) capable of functioning as claimed. Although not labeled Schunk appears to show atmospheric chambers as claimed. See the chamber to the left of the piston in the area of numeral 54, as discussed above.

Schunk lacks a showing of the stroke simulator and an orifice as claimed.

Schunk does appear to show a design similar to applicants in the area of numeral 44.

Drott et al. is relied upon to show a cap member with a central orifice in the general area of numeral 13. See figures 1 and 2.

The reference to Kamiya et al. is relied upon for a teaching a stroke simulator, as broadly claimed, in the several embodiments. See elements 9 or 211 in the several embodiments.

Art Unit: 3683

One having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention would have found it obvious to have incorporated the teachings of Drott et al. and Kamiya et al. discussed above into the device of Schunk to offer a master cylinder brake apparatus with better pedal feel characteristics based on predetermined braking requirements.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The references cited have been cited for showing other master cylinder designs similar to applicant's..
